

00:01:20 Lynn Brophy: Good Morning!
00:06:42 Michael Johnston: Did I mention that it was 88
degrees in Los Angeles Yesterday. Just wanted to double check.
00:06:59 Jack Rose: Good morning
00:07:00 Keith Kaiser, WAØTJT & Deb Kaiser, WØDLK: Good morning from a cold, frosty Kansas City, MO
00:07:30 George Brooks: Yes it that cold here in ATL today
00:07:52 Peter Emery (AUSOM): 54°F/12°C in Melbourne,
Australia 2:30 am Thursday.
00:07:55 George Brooks: 44
00:08:33 George Rubin: 77 in Naples
00:08:55 George Brooks: Yes I woke up with the feeling like I was back in the midwest
00:09:47 Phil Brown: First road warning for 402 between Sarnia and London
00:10:25 Travis J Harder - He/Him/His: Hello from frosty St Louis!
00:11:03 Billy McKee: Any progress on Chat AI summary yet?
00:13:36 Ed Adams: good morning from chilly Santa Barbara 00:14:38 Peter Emery (AUSOM): My Magic Mouse now charges
wirelessly. <https://amzn.asia/d/5CbyIZY> 00:16:57 chris wilder: I was unable to view on Saturday, is the event available to view?
00:17:25 Don Peacock: Sorry to be tardy.
00:17:47 Stephen Streeter: Good morning
00:19:58 Gill Patten: Good afternoon from Cheshire, UK.
00:22:57 David Winograd: Is or will the message board zoom last weekend online?
00:23:37 Nancy Pyle McGee: It's quite useful to receive the Handout prior to the meeting. I have it open on my iPad to follow during the presentation
00:24:49 Kathy Colville: This is not applicable to iOS, correct?
00:29:55 Timothy Childers: Question for Later on being able to delete pages from PDF files.
00:31:08 Gill Patten: When files are saved in preview, where are the files saved ?
00:32:13 Gill Patten: I never know where to look for them
00:36:29 Peter Emery (AUSOM): New Share
00:39:11 James Corsica: Can you drag the "proxy" into Messages as well?
00:39:34 Don Peacock: Zooming back out will help those viewing on MacBooks 00:40:10 Bob Hale: I have had some limited success in using Preview to control a scanner. Will this be covered today?
Best, Bob.
00:42:05 Nancy Pyle McGee: Will the search find words in these pictures/images?
00:42:05 Peter Emery (AUSOM): @Bob Hale: scanning from Preview is virtually the same interface as using System Settings or Image Capture.

00:44:28 EdieG: or, you might be able to print a few pages and then save those as a pdf

00:45:09 Bob Hale: Thanks @Peter Emery (AUSOM).

Today's topic is Preview. I have not used any other interface yet for scanner control.

Best, Bob.

00:45:43 Karen Lewis: Can you highlight text with a color so that when you click the highlighted text a pop up window opens to read the notes?

00:47:43 Billy McKee: Some pdf have no indexing and others are very comprehensive - no way of telling which except files size - 3.5MB (probably scanned) and v 24.5MB. Any advice?

00:48:11 Sandy Fitzig: Can you scan by phone directly into Preview

00:50:29 Bob McKenzie: Not seeing the save menu box

00:50:39 Gill Patten: Cant see the slider

00:51:07 Chris Klemmer: Is there a way to add white space along the edge of an image for notes that do not interfere with the original image?

00:52:27 Tom Durkin: You can also convert to another format if you hold the "option" key while in the file menu. Then you are offered a "Save as" item.

00:53:51 Chita Hunter: Replying to "Can you highlight te..."

Was your question just answered?

00:54:06 Hank Humphrey: I don't see tools menu

00:54:12 Elliott Cobin: PDFgear (<https://www.pdfgear.com/>) is a free app that I use to unlock pdfs so that I can use bookmarks and highlight.

00:55:05 Chita Hunter: Replying to "I don't see tools me..."

Don't see the tools across the top of Mike's screen? If not, you might need to resize your Zoom window.

00:55:09 Ed Adams: If you are making changes to the image like exposure is it destructive?

00:58:34 Don Peacock: If you send someone a picture with your signature, can they copy and extract your signature from the image?

00:59:39 Gill Patten: Same old question from me: will Preview perform all these functions on a late 2015 Mac running Monterey, version 12.7.1 ?

01:01:14 Victoria Herring: You could copy the image and paste it into a white area perhaps

01:02:06 Dan Sailors: Create a new blank document and copy and drop the image on the blank document leaving white space on the edges

01:02:19 Dave Bogart: Is there a command that lets you reduce the file size, of something e.g. you've scanned?

01:03:09 Jane Wood: QUESTION: Sometimes I go back into a Preview image that I've edited, and I'm unable to adjust entities I've added in a previous session. Any idea what might be causing this?

01:03:09 Melissa Green: Replying to "Is there a way to ad..."

Maybe make a screenshot with background color. (Preview > Settings menu > General > Background color). Then open screenshot to add text. Not an ideal solution.

01:03:13 Chita Hunter: Replying to "Same old question fr..."

Only if the features are available in the version of Preview that runs on that machine.

01:03:31 Peter Emery (AUSOM): Or zoom out and take a screenshot showing the extra space around the image

01:03:51 Victoria Herring: Hit Option = then Save As

01:04:27 Victoria Herring: Under file = Option and then go down to Save As

01:05:39 Chris Klemmer: Reacted to "Or zoom out and take..."

with 👍

01:06:07 Peter Emery (AUSOM): Very sorry, I have to leave, well past my bedtime.

01:06:14 Chris Klemmer: Reacted to "Create a new blank d..."

with 👍

01:07:00 Ed Adams: Photoshop will allow you to capture the signature

01:07:25 Chris Klemmer: Replying to "Same old question fr..."

All the features mentioned so far work on my 2015 MacBook, Monterey 12.7

01:08:17 Dan Sailers: You could use edit -copy of just the sig and then paste into pages doc

01:08:45 Michael Snyder: I second the previous request to show how to combine multiple PDFs into a single large PDF.

01:10:07 Don Peacock: Are there keyboard commands for "unmute" and "start/stop video" or do we always have to click the icons?

01:10:34 Gill Patten: Replying to "Same old question fr..."

Thanks - will try later

01:11:43 James Corsica: Do you have any tips for creating a good signature? I find using the Mac trackpad awkward at best.

01:11:57 Don Peacock: Q unrelated to Subject. Sorry.

01:14:52 Bob Jacobs: How do you bring up the toolbar. I must have missed that.

01:15:41 Donna Rapose: Is there a handout for this meeting? Was it sent in earlier notifications?

01:16:42 Donna Rapose: Thank you, didn't see it earlier.

01:17:07 Don Peacock: How do you combine the pages you dragged to the desktop?

01:23:17 Bob Jacobs: I have used the redact tool and erase tool in other PDF programs. Is there an erase tool in Preview?

01:24:36 Jeffrey Gaier: For Alan, make a collage in Pages
01:25:14 Melissa Green: Alan – make a collage? Maybe use the Freeform app to add several images, add text and then export as PDF.
01:25:29 EdieG: Is there some trick to putting your text comments where you want them? Probably I'm slow, but the text box comes up somewhere and I have trouble putting it where I want it.
01:26:37 Ed Adams: Image capture will do that scanning to
pdf with multiple pages
01:26:58 EdieG: I have great success scanning through Preview with my epon flatbed.
01:27:20 Keith Kaiser, WA0TJT & Deb Kaiser, W0DLK: Is Preview not available on the iPad?
01:27:49 Jeffrey Gaier: EdieG if the PDF has preprogrammed Text boxes no. If you add a Text box to a PDF you can move it on the document. At least you can on the Mac computer. I don't know about the iPad or iPhone
01:30:21 Rick Matteson-LIMac: Some good references for Preview app

<https://support.apple.com/guide/preview/welcome/mac>
Free from Apple

<https://www.takecontrolbooks.com/preview/>
$14.95 from Take Control Books

01:31:58 Victoria Herring: In the App Store is a Preview
App for iPad = not sure it's an Apple creation 01:32:08 EdieG: Replying to "EdieG if the PDF has..."

Thanks! I know you can, I just have difficulty. so I tend to use acrobat, which I happen to have 01:32:46 Melissa Green: thank you Mike!

01:32:47 Michael Johnston: Great job, M.M. Thanks for your efforts.
